DO YOU REMEMBER WHEN...

Hadwen Williams lived at Whittier, other area towns

Hadwen Williams was a Quaker who turned Methodist, and a physician who became a minister. His life of almost 72 years bridged the 19th and 20th centuries. Raised near Whittier, he worked at Waubeek in 1876, lived in Springville later, practiced medicine in Martelle, and retired to Mount Vernon.

He's commemorated in "Those Days: An American Album," a book by his grandson, Richard Critchfield, published in 1986. This family epic is foremost the biography of Hadwen's daughter and Richard's mother, Anna Louise (Anne). Many family photos are included.

Hadwen (given his paternal grandmother's maiden name) was born Oct. 27, 1854, near Ithaca, N. Y. He came to Iowa in 1859 with his parents, Francis and Mary, and eight siblings. The Williams farm was a mile north of Whittier, along Prairie Chapel Road.

At age 17, Hadwen enrolled in Western College near Shueyville, working to pay his way. He then taught school before deciding to become a physician. The 1880 census found him listed as a medical student in the household of Dr. John Love at Springville. It was customary then for aspiring doctors to work with experienced physicians to gain knowledge.

Hadwen graduated from the University of Iowa Medical Department in March 1882. He opened a practice in Martelle, living over the post office. In September 1884, he married Jessie Johnston at her sister's home near Linn Grove Church. Jessie's mother Margaret had died 16 years earlier. Her father Eli, who was in Kansas, came back for the wedding.

Son, daughter born in Martelle

Hadwen and Jessie's first two children were born in Martelle – Hadwen Jr. in 1886, Anna Louise in 1887. Mary arrived in 1896, Helen in 1903. Meanwhile, at age 35, Hadwen felt called to a major career change. He took training in Chicago, and entered the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church Oct. 7, 1889. His first church was at New Hampton.

During 31 years as a minister, Hadwen served 13 churches in 11 Iowa counties. His only Linn County church was in Kenwood Park. Other charges were Volga, Ridgeway, Elwood, LeClaire, Monona, McGregor, Lime Springs, Sumner, Plymouth, Jesup, and Postville.

The Williamses were in Postville when the bad flu epidemic of 1918-1919 struck. Hadwen helped the overworked local doctors. In adding medical duties to ministerial ones, he pushed himself to exhaustion. In 1920, he retired from the ministry at age 65, and he and Jessie moved to a house on the north side of Mount Vernon.

Hadwen Williams was a greatly respected man. Although ill health clouded his last years, he stayed active

THE SPRINGVILLE Area Historical Society (SAHS) will resume regular meetings Tuesday, Sept. 13, at 6:30 p.m. The group meets in the SAHS building next door to City Hall. Anyone interested in the history of Springville, Whittier, Viola, and Paralta is welcome to attend.

Hadwen and Jessie Williams, 1885

as long as possible. In January 1926, he preached for the last time, at Linn Grove Presbyterian Church – in the rural neighborhood where Jessie was born. He died Oct. 5, 1926, and was buried in the Mount Vernon Cemetery.

His wife and their four children survived him. Hadwen Jr. was in Kingsville, Texas; Anna Louise (Anne) Critchfield and husband Jim in Fessenden, N. D.; and Mary Collins and Helen Collins both at Viola. They married brothers, Fay and Victor.

(NOTE: The Springville Memorial Library has "Those Days: An American Album.")

4 parks: Butler, Graham, Cox, Emmons

The names of Springville's four public parks commemorate residents who contributed positively to the town. Butler Park was a gift in 1909 from C. F. "Fred" Butler in memory of his father, Joseph S. Butler. The elder Butler, a Springville pioneer in 1840, founded the Exchange State Bank in 1878.

Graham Park was given to Springville in 1917 by Dr. Jacob D. Graham, a physician here for 44 years. Cox Lake Park honors the leadership of Orville Cox in reclaiming the area from its former status of town dump. Emmons Park commemorates Joseph B. "Joe" Emmons, who served as president of the Exchange State Bank.

Relatives still in this area

The youngest of Hadwen Williams' eight grandchildren, Mary Collins May, lives near Viola. Her grandfather died before she was born, but he would have been proud that she has served the Viola United Methodist Church as organist for 58 years. Two of her four children also live in the area, Jim near Viola and Tom in Anamosa.

Two children of Mrs. May's older brother, the late Hadwen Collins, are John Collins, who also lives near Viola, and Kim Michels of Marion. Bob Williams of Whittier is a great-nephew of Hadwen Williams; his grandfather was Hadwen's brother Aaron.

All three of Hadwen and Jessie's daughters – Anne Critchfield, Mary Collins, and Helen Collins – are interred at Wilcox Cemetery near Viola. Hadwen Williams Jr. is buried at Mount Vernon with his parents.

We are blown away by the giving spirit of our patrons! We started Food for Fines at the beginning of August and by the end of the first week we had a basket overflowing with donations. The donations have kept coming and we're so happy that they have. We can't thank you enough for helping us to fill up SANSI's pantry. This particular food drive ended on August 31st, but keep an eye out for the next one. In December we will be running a drive for Waypoint, a service that advocates for women who were or are victims of domestic violence. We will be looking for things like toiletries and non-perishable food items. Thank you for your donations.

Greeting Springville Parents, Student and Community,

It's hard to believe that the start of another school year is upon us, but it is here. I want to thank the Springville Community on the support of the passing of a $4.725 million dollar bond issue last February. It seems like it has been ages ago since we passed the bond and not a lot has happened. The Springville board has attended many meetings since the bond vote and feels they have plans in place that will serve the needs and wants of the students and community. If you look on the north side of the school, Schwab Hall and the shop have been removed to clear the way for the new construction site. Plans have been approved and are available for people to see on the school's website. We will be receiving and approving bids to hire a general contractor in early August with construction to start later in August. So time has finally come to start building the new elementary addition and to start updating the current secondary building. Thank you for your patience in advance as we work through the next year of construction.

This year we do have a few new names and faces for everyone to learn as we welcome new staff members to the Springville Community. Please take the time to seek these people out, introduce yourselves and welcome them to Springville. As always I can assure you the Springville staff will work hard to make sure that the children of Springville get the best all-around education. After being away and now returning to a small school again, it is very evident of the type of relationships that are developed between students, parents and the school. I look forward to an exciting year with lots of changes come to the school district.

Springville Tractor Pullers Association Thanks You

On behalf of STPA (Springville Tractor Pullers Association), we would like to THANK everyone who helped with the ECIPA Truck and Tractor Pull, first annual STPA Bags Tournament and STPA concert. Thank you to all of our sponsors, fans, spectators, competitors, workers, volunteers, food groups, Springville Community Schools, and anyone else who helped in any way. Without all of this support our Fun Days celebration would not be as successful. It certainly takes a team effort!

The Friday night's ECIPA Truck and Tractor Pull brought over 2,000 people into Springville. These spectators not only come from all over Iowa but from surrounding states as well. Both competitors and spectators tell us that many factors make Springville's Pull one of the best pulling events of the year. Some of the top reasons attendance keeps growing are the over 60 competitive pulling vehicles, beautiful hillside grounds, wide variety of food, friendly workers, and the fact that the event is so well run and organized. Kim and Johnny Johnston's steam engine going down the track is the perfect finale!

STPA's first annual bags tournament brought in 42 teams on Saturday, August 12. The new event brought competitors from as far away as the Quad Cities and Iowa Falls. After dark it was exciting to see fireworks light up the sky compliments of STPA. Mark your calendars for next year's Springville Fun Days August 11 – 13, 2017! We are all looking forward to it!!

The fastest male and female up the hill were crowned "King & Queen of the Hill." The funds raised from the event will be donated to the City of Springville's Community Trails Project. The final donation amount has not been calculated at this time but by the organizers have estimated it will be between $4-$5,000. The Springville Extreme Quarry Run committee would like to thank Wendling Quarries for use of the quarry once again and also thank our many sponsors and volunteers for helping us put on this event! If you would like to see the race results you can go to the city's website at www.ci.springville.ia.us.
